'There is nothing more calculated to strengthen the intellect than the study of the Scriptures. No other book is so potent to elevate the thoughts, to give vigor to the faculties, as the broad enobling truths of the Bible. If God's word were studied as it should be, men would have a breadth of mind, a nobility of character, and a stability of purpose rarely seen in these times. 'Steps to Christ p 90 David said, 'Thy word have I hid in mine heart that I might not sin against thee' Ps. 119:11. As those who desire to improve our knowledge of the Scriptures may we all carefully and prayerfully study some portion of the word of God each day in 1964.

ROBERT EDWARD LEE — born in Westmoreland County, Virginia., January 19, 1207—died at Lexington, Virginia, October 12, 1870.

"GONE FORWARD"

General Robert E. Lee's last words were: "Let the tent be struck."

Yes, "let the tent be struck";
Victorious morning
Through every crevice flashes in a day
Magnificent beyond all earth's adorning:
The night is over; wherefore should he stay?
And wherefore should our voices choke to say,
"The General has gone forward"
—Margaret Junkin Preston

from the book, Days and Deeds by Burton and Elizabeth Stevenson

Sunday, January 19th, was the birthday of Robert Edward Lee and in ten Southern states it is a legal holiday. It is fitting that attention should be called to the memory of this great American whose life is so closely aligned with that of Appomattox County.

The Appomattox County Library is proud to be able to offer to you the following books centering around the life of Lee:

Blakeford, Susan Leigh— Letters Frank Lee's Army, Scribners, 1947.

Bradford, Gamaliel — Lee The American, Houghton, 1912.

Davis, Burke — Gray Fox; Robert E. Lee & The Civil War, Rinhart, 1956

Fishwick, Marshall — Lee After The War, Dodd, 1963

Freeman, Douglas Southall — R. E. Lee; A Biography — 4 volumes, Scribners, 1934.

Freeman, Douglas Southall — Lee's Lieutenants 3 volumes, Scribners, 1943

Jones, Rev. J. William —Personal Reminiscences; Anecdotes, and Letters of Gen. Robert E. Lee. Appleton, 1875

This book which is 100 years old is perhaps the most valuable one in the Appomattox County Library. The author, Rev. John William Jones, was a Chaplain in the army of General Lee and later served as chaplain of Washington College. Following the death of Robert E. Lee, the faculty of the college commissioned Rev. Jones to write this intimate account of their beloved college president. This book was one of the books given to Appomattox County library with its initial collection of books March 6, 1940. It is a beautiful edition bound in brown leather back with gold tooled lettering . . . and is not now available in any book store or publishing company.

Lee, Captain Robert E. — Recollections and Letters of General Robert E. Lee by his son. Garden City, 1904.

Page, Thomas Nelson — Robert E. Lee; Man and Soldier. Scribners, 1926.

Stern, Phillip Van Doren — Robert E. Lee: The Man and The Soldier, McGraw-Hill, 1963.

Wise, Jennings Cropper — The Long Arm of Lee — 2 volumes— J. P. Bell, Co., 1915.

The library would like to recommend the following two books for individual purchase:

The White House: An Historic Guide and The Capitol of United States of America — are published by the White Historical Association, Washington, D. C. and may be purchased from this address for $1.00 plus .25 cents for postage.

Sportsmanship

High school athletes performing in local games are friendly rivals as members of opposing teams. They are not enemies.

This, basically, is the theme of interscholastic athletics and the idea of friendly competition. The visiting team is a guest of the home team. They are expected to be so regarded and so treated.

The officials are men, who by agreement between the competing teams, are assigned to a/s minister the rules of the game. Their experience and their integrity qualify them for their part in a friendly interscholastic contest. This attitude of sportsmanship should be reflected by all spectators, too, no matter what their personal feelings of loyalty may be to one or the other of the teams in a contest.

Interscholastic athletics are for sportsmen, both on the court and in the stands.
